

Sub editor 2023

APL Media Limited, based in Kentish Town, is seeking a sub editor to join its friendly company, which focuses on travel and lifestyle content. This is an ideal role for a self-starter who is calm under pressure, has a superb and meticulous grasp of the English language, excellent grammatical skills, and is looking for a small- to medium-sized company to flex their talent.

APL Media publishes a range of titles for consumer and trade publications. One of its flagship titles is National Geographic Traveller (UK), which has various offshoots including the Guides and Collection series. It also has a busy events programme; its biggest being the National Geographic Traveller Food Festival, as well as the Travel Media Awards.

The role involves subbing all content from long-form features to advertorials on a range of topics for national newspapers, as well as press and marketing materials.

Subbing duties and responsibilities

- To sub-edit travel and lifestyle content across a variety of publications and platforms.
- To ensure all published content is factually correct.
- To cut copy to fit and ensure everything is in house style, according to the publication.
- To be adept at picking up house style and moving between varying style guides (including US English for trade titles).
- To work across departments and be an excellent multi-tasker.
- To work closely with the design team, editors and production.
- To proof pages when needed.
- A flair with headlines and intros would be superb, while original ideas and input are always welcome.

Skills/Requirements

- Proven experience as a sub editor.
- Proficient in InDesign and MS Office.
- To be able to work efficiently and independently, but to also be a team player.
- Good organisational skills.
- Be a team player.
- Good people skills.

What next?

If you're interested in this position, please attach a copy of your CV and include a cover letter stating why you would be great for this role.

Please note: Only candidates meeting the requirements for the role will be contacted.
